When setting reserves, the Company employs the five methods that are described below. Based on the estimates of these methods and also retrospective considerations, the Company sets a best estimate and then an explicit margin is added to ensure that the estimate is sufficient. The average of the methods, as well as the spread of the estimates, is also considered when setting the respective liabilities. Aggregate liabilities are tested against other aggregate estimation methods to check for reasonableness, and any additional margin or adjustments are made.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

- (a) Aggregate Method: 12 months of paid claims are subtracted from 12 months of estimated incurred claims to get the liability estimate.
- (b) 3 Month Average Method: For the base liability estimate, the average liability of the third, fourth, and fifth month prior to the current month is used. Adjustments are made for trend, membership change, and backlog to determine the current month's estimate of liability.
- (c) Previous Year's IBNR Method: This method is similar to the Three Month Average Method, except that the actual reserve from one year ago is used as the base estimate of liability. This is projected forward using adjustments for trend, membership change, and backlog.
- (d) CY Lag Method: This method calculates completion factors by incurred year. Completion factors used for the current year are based on the previous year's experience. Completion factors for the most recent 3 years are set manually.
- (e) 12 Month CF Method: This method is identical to the CY Lag Method, except that historical completion factors are based on 12 months of rolling data.

(12) Changes in the Capitalization Policy and Predefined Thresholds from Prior Period
The Company has not modified its capitalization policy from the prior period.

(13) Method Used to Estimate Pharmaceutical Rebate Receivables

MIMs are derived from a semi-monthly dealer-consensus survey of long-term prepayment projections. For other mortgage-backed, loan-backed, and structured securities, Clearwater utilizes prepayment assumptions from Moody's Analytics. Moody's applies a flat economic credit model and utilizes a vector of multiple monthly speeds as opposed to a single speed for more robust projections. In instances where Moody's projections are not available, Clearwater uses data from Reuters, which utilizes the median prepayment speed from contributors' models.
